STATUTES AND RULES.

CHAPTER I.

Of the Meetings, Functions, and Privileges of the Trustees.

1. GENERAL Meetings of the Trustees shall be held four times in the year; on the second Saturday in May and December at the Museum (Bloomsbury) and on the fourth Saturday in February and July at the Museum (Natural History). CHAP. I.
General Meetings.

2. Special General Meetings shall be summoned by the Director and Principal Librarian (hereinafter called the Director), upon receiving notice in writing to that effect signed by two Trustees.

3. There shall be a Standing Committee, consisting of the three Principal Trustees, the Trustee appointed by the Crown, and sixteen other Trustees to be annually appointed at the General Meeting held on the second Saturday in May. Standing Committee.

4. Vacancies in the Standing Committee shall be from time to time filled up at a General Meeting.

5. Ordinary business shall be transacted by the Standing Committee, meeting at the Museum (Bloomsbury) or the Museum (Natural History), three Members at least being present. The Committee shall report their proceedings to General Meetings held at that branch of the British Museum to which these refer.

6. The Standing Committee shall have power to affix the Seal of the Corporation to documents requiring it.

7. They shall inquire, as often as they think fit, into the conduct of the Officers, Assistants, Attendants and Servants of the Museum, and give directions accordingly.

8. They may grant to the Officers leave of absence (consistently with the Order in Council of 15th August, 1890), provided that such absence, unless for special cause, do not extend beyond the space of eight weeks in the year, and that in the case of the Museum (Bloomsbury) two at least of the Keepers of departments, having houses within the precincts, be always in residence : provided also that the Keeper and the Assistant Keeper or Assistant Keepers of a department be not absent at the same time.

9. The Standing Committee shall also have power to order payment of all pecuniary demands upon the Trustees.

10. All moneys belonging to the Funds Account of the Trustees shall be kept at the Bank of England.

CHAP. I.
Funds Account.

11. The Standing Committee shall have power to appoint Ordinary and Special Sub-Committees. Every Sub-Committee, unless for special cause, shall consist of not more than nine Trustees, three of whom at least shall be Members of the Standing Committee. Two Members of a Sub-Committee shall be a Quorum, of whom one at least shall be a Member of the Standing Committee.

Sub-Committees.

12. At every General Meeting, as well as at every Meeting of the Standing Committee or of a Sub-Committee, the Trustee first called to the Chair shall, unless for special cause, occupy it so long as he is present at the Meeting.

Chairman of Meetings.

13. There shall be a general Visitation of the Museum (Bloomsbury) by the Trustees every year on the second Saturday in May, and of the Museum (Natural History) on the fourth Saturday in July. Other visitations at either Museum shall be held on such day or days as the Trustees at a General Meeting, or the Standing Committee, may appoint.

Visitations.

14. Any Trustee shall have free access to every part of the British Museum during Museum hours.

Privileges.

CHAPTER II.

Rules relative to the Director and Principal Librarian, and the Director of the Natural History Departments.

CHAP. II.
Residence.

1. The Director and all other persons having houses within the precincts of the Museum (Bloomsbury) shall reside therein, unless leave of absence be granted by the Standing Committee.

Director and
Principal
Librarian.

2. The Director, being, by the Act of Incorporation, the person to whom the care and custody of the British Museum is chiefly entrusted :—

(1.) Shall be responsible for the safety of the Museums, and of the Property and Collections therein.

(2.) Shall exercise a general superintendence over all the Departments at Bloomsbury ; and shall take care that the Officers, Assistants, Attendants, and Servants be regular in their attendance and perform their proper duties ; and shall report every omission in this respect to the Standing Committee.

(3.) Shall make such remarks on the Reports of the Officers as he may think proper for the information of the Trustees.

(4.) Shall grant admission into the Museum (Bloomsbury) to persons of eminence either for learning or rank, especially foreigners, desiring to inspect the Collections, but not able conveniently to avail themselves of the usual mode of admission.

CHAP. II.
Director and Principal
Librarian.

(5.) Shall take care that the Museum (Bloomsbury) be kept open during the appointed hours; and that due order and propriety of behaviour be observed by all persons, whether visitors or others.

(6.) Shall grant admission into the Reading Room and other Students' Rooms of the several Departments, and into the Sculpture Galleries at Bloomsbury; and shall provide that such facilities be afforded to the Readers and Students as are consistent with the security and preservation of the Collections.

(7.) Shall communicate to the Officers and others the orders of the Trustees; and shall see that they be duly carried into effect.

(8.) Shall be the Editor of the "Guides" to the Collections; shall see that they be prepared and printed in accordance with such directions as may, from time to time, be given him by the Standing Committee; and shall take care that a sufficient supply of copies be always ready to meet the public demand.

(9.) Shall be in attendance when the Museum shall be visited by the Sovereign or by any members of the Royal Family, or by Royal Personages of other countries.

(10.) The Director shall give securities for the due discharge of his office to the amount of 10,000*l.*: that is to say, his own bond for 5,000*l.*, and two other securities in a joint and several bond to the amount of 5,000*l.*

3. In case of the death or sickness of the Director, the senior Officer in residence shall exercise his functions.

4. It is the duty of the Director in the capacity of Secretary:—

(1.) To attend all meetings of the Trustees; to take down the minutes of their proceedings at Bloomsbury; to prepare lists of accounts due from the Trustees and payable from the Parliamentary Grant, to be submitted for approval at each meeting of the Standing Committee, and to take care that orders for payment are duly made upon the Paymaster-General; to conduct the correspondence of the Trustees ; to issue all summonses for meetings ; to notify to the Principal Trustees the vacancies which may occur in the establishment ; and also to take the chief charge of all records and other documents connected with the business of the Trust.

CHAP. II.
Director and Principal
Librarian.

(2.) To make all payments on account of the Museum from the Funds Account at the Bank of England ; he is therefore empowered to sign Cheques for payments from that Account ; and of these payments he is to keep an exact statement, which shall be laid before the Standing Committee at the close of each financial year.

(3.) To examine and check all bills sent in by tradespeople, and certify that the articles have been ordered under proper authority, that the charges are duly made, and that the computations are accurate.

(4.) To keep a weekly account of all work done for the Trust paid otherwise than by fixed monthly or annual salaries ; and to certify that such work has been duly authorised, and that the charges are accurate.

(5.) To keep an account of all books connected with the Museum (Bloomsbury)

CHAP. II.

 Librarian.

published by the Trustees, and of the number of copies delivered and disposed of; and periodically to ascertain that the stock in hand corresponds with the account, and also to receive the moneys due from booksellers and other persons.

Director of the Natural History Departments.

5. The Director of the Natural History Departments shall perform duties at the Natural History Museum connected with custody and superintendence, the admission of Visitors and Students, editing Guides, and keeping accounts of publications, similar to those discharged by the Director at the Museum (Bloomsbury). He shall attend all meetings of the Trustees held at the Natural History Museum, and he shall attend all meetings at Bloomsbury whenever any business relating to the Natural History Departments is to be transacted; and he shall take down the minutes of the proceedings of the Trustees at their meetings at the Natural History Museum.

CHAPTER III.

Rules relative to the Subordinate Officers, Assistants, Attendants and Servants.

1. The Subordinate Officers are to assist CHAP. III.
Subordinate
Officers. the Director of the British Museum and the Director of the Natural History Departments in the care and custody of the Museums; they are strictly enjoined to give immediate notice if any article in the Museum be lost or damaged; to be careful that everything within their Departments be at all times preserved in good and exact order; that full and accurate Catalogues or Lists be made and kept, comprising every article under their care; and that the rooms of their Departments be neat and clean.

2. They shall give the whole of their time, subject to any regulations which may from time to time be made by the Standing Committee, to the service of the Museum and the discharge of the proper duties of their several Departments; and they shall not be absent from the Museum without giving previous notice in writing to the Director or to the Director of the Natural History Departments, and to the senior Officer of their Departments.

3. The Keepers or, in their absence, the Keepers and Assistant-
Keepers. Assistant Keepers, shall make monthly Reports to the Standing Committee on the progress of the business in their Departments, and, within the first fortnight after Christmas of every year, lay before the Standing Committee annual Reports as well on the business done in their Departments as on the nature and extent of the Additions made to the Collections under their care.

4. The Keepers of Departments shall see that every article bequeathed or presented to the Trustees of the British Museum be distinguished by marking on it or attaching to it the name of the Person bequeathing or presenting the same, with the date of its reception in the Museum.

5. The Keepers of Departments shall take care that the Assistant Keepers, Assistants, Attendants and Servants, be regular in their attendance and perform their proper duties, and shall report every omission in this respect to the Director or to the Director of the Natural History Departments. They shall not grant to any Assistant, Attendant or Servant, leave of absence from the Museum for a whole day, without first obtaining in that behalf the consent of the Director or of the Director of the Natural History Departments.

6. The Keepers and Assistant Keepers shall, if required by the Standing Committee, have their usual abode within one mile of the Museum.

7. The Keepers of Departments shall see that every article received into their custody be duly stamped with the Museum stamp or otherwise marked as the property of the British Museum.

CHAP. III.
Keepers and Assistant
Keepers.

8. The Keeper of the Printed Books shall superintend and enforce the delivery of the Books and other publications under the Copyright Act.

9. The Superintendent of the Reading Room shall attend in the Reading Room during the hours when it is open, and on no account leave it, unless some other person or persons specially appointed by the Director attend in his place.

The Superintendent of the Reading
Room.

10. The Superintendent shall keep a Register of the names of all persons who are duly admitted into the Reading Room; and shall not allow others to enter it. He shall keep order in the Room and see that Readers be provided with the books and other publications which they may require; and he shall take care that they do no damage to them.

11. The Assistants, being under the immediate direction of the senior Officer of the Department in which they are employed, shall not absent themselves from the Museum without leave from him first obtained. Every Assistant shall keep a Diary, wherein he shall daily enter the business on which he is engaged, and the hours of his attendance, especially recording his absence from the Museum during any part of the day. All such Diaries shall be inspected and signed at the beginning of each month by the senior Officer of the Department and forthwith transmitted by him, with such observations as he shall think fit, to the Director, or to the Director of the Natural History Departments.

Chief
Messengers.

12. The Chief Messenger at each Museum shall superintend the Attendants and Servants; he shall keep a daily Register of their attendance, and report to the proper Officer every instance of negligence or misbehaviour. He shall keep an account as well of Letters and Parcels received and delivered as of the charges on the same, and of such other expenses as are usually included in a petty cash account. He shall see that no persons be improperly admitted into the interior of the Museum. He shall be careful that the fires be extinguished at the proper time; and for this purpose he shall take care that, immediately after the closing of the Museum, all the rooms in which fires have been lighted shall be visited. He shall also take care that, in the evening, the windows and doors be properly secured and the Museum left in a state of safety. He shall receive the House-keys from persons who have the use of them, when they leave the Museum; and shall report to the Director, or to the Director of the Natural History Departments, any irregularity in this respect. CHAP. III.

Chief
Messengers.

13. Every Officer shall be in readiness to give attendance, if required, at the Meetings of the Trustees; and he shall remain within the precincts of the Museum during the time of every General Visitation. Attendance of Officers at Meetings of the Trustees.

14. No person appointed to any office or employment in the Museum shall hold any other office, or engage in other business, without the permission of the Standing Committee. Other Offices not to be held without permission.

15. In framing these regulations, the Trustees are aware that it is impossible for them to define the duty of each Officer with a sufficient degree of precision for all possible emergencies; in addition, therefore, to the above rules, it is to be considered as a general instruction to the several Officers that they conduct themselves as becomes men of honour, integrity and liberality, in the conscientious discharge of the duties of their respective stations, and as men who have the credit and utility of the British Museum truly at heart. General Instruction.

CHAPTER IV.

Concerning Admission to the British Museum.

CHAP. IV.
Holidays.

1. The Holidays to be observed at the British Museum are Christmas Day, Good Friday, and every special Fast or Thanksgiving day appointed by authority.

Days and Hours of Admission.

2. With the exception of certain rooms which will be closed on particular days for the purpose of the arrangement of the Collections, and for the visits of such persons as may be admitted, under Rule 9, to examine any part of the Collections more minutely than can be done on the public days, the Museum shall be open every day excepting on the holidays above-mentioned.

3. The hours for viewing the Collections shall be such as the Standing Committee may from time to time appoint.

Admission.

4. Any person desiring to view the Collections may be required to inscribe his name and place of abode in a book to be kept in the Entrance Hall for that purpose.

Behaviour.

5. Visitors are to be decent and orderly in their appearance and behaviour; otherwise the Officers are to exclude them or cause them to withdraw.

Reading
Room.

6. The Reading Room of the Museum (Bloomsbury) shall be kept open on every day of the week except Sunday, and except Good Friday, Christmas Day, and any Fast or Thanksgiving Day appointed by authority; except also the first four week-days of March and September; from nine in the morning till eight in the evening from September to April inclusive, and till seven during the other months.

CHAP. IV.
Reading
Room.

7. Any person desiring to be admitted into the Reading Room is to apply in writing to the Director, specifying his profession or business, his place of abode, and the purpose for which he seeks admission; his application must be accompanied by a written recommendation satisfactory to the Director, who, thereupon, may grant to him admission or refer the application to the Trustees at their next Meeting.

8. No person is to write or make any mark whatsoever on any book, map, or other document. The permission to use the Reading Room will be immediately withdrawn from any one infringing this rule.

9. Persons engaged in works of learning or in the prosecution of useful designs, desiring to examine any part of the Collections with more attention than can be done in the ordinary way of viewing the Museums or using the Reading Room, are to apply in writing to the Director, or to the Director of the Natural History Departments, who may grant permission, or refer the application to the Standing Committee at their next Meeting.

10. No part of the Collections shall be carried out of the precincts of the Museums, documents and other articles required to be produced in evidence only excepted. In such cases application shall be made to the Standing Committee at their next meeting, or, in urgent cases, to the Director, or to the Director of the Natural History Departments. If the application be granted, one of the Keepers or Assistant Keepers, or one of the Assistants, shall carry out such document or other article and keep it constantly in his custody, allowing it to be inspected only in his presence.

11. Members of the Royal Academy, Artists and Students, may be admitted into the Museum (Bloomsbury) for the purpose of copying sculptures or other objects of art. Any person desiring to be admitted into the Museum for such purpose or for the purpose of study in the Students' Rooms of the several Departments, is to apply in writing to the Director, specifying his profession or business, and his place of abode, and, if not a Member of the Royal Academy, accompanying his letter with a written recommendation satisfactory to the Director, who, thereupon, may grant admission, or refer the application to the Trustees at their next Meeting.

12. The rules for the admission of Students at the Natural History Museum shall, so far as circumstances admit, be the same as those at Bloomsbury.

CHAP. IV.
Special Rules for using the Collections.

13. The privilege of admission to the Reading Room or any Department of the British Museum is in all cases granted upon condition that it may be at any time suspended by the Director, or by the Director of the Natural History Departments; and that it may be at any time withdrawn by the Trustees in their absolute discretion.

14. No Attendant or Servant shall, on any pretence, take any fee, reward or gratuity from persons visiting the Museum or using the Collections.

No Fee
Allowable.

CHAPTER V.

Concerning the Security of the British Museum.

1. The Director shall take special care that the regulations made from time to time by the Trustees for the warding, patrolling, and general safeguarding of the British Museum from the danger of theft, or fire, or other accidents, be strictly enforced.

CHAP. V.
Precautions against Fire
and other Accidents.

2. The Director of the Natural History

Departments shall likewise see that such regulations be enforced at the Museum (Natural History).

3. In order that the Museum (Bloomsbury) may at no time be left without a proper Officer responsible for its safety and duly authorised to give orders in case of fire or other accidents, some one of the resident Keepers shall always remain within the precincts of the Museum, who, in the absence of the Director, shall be responsible for the safety of the Museum, and of the Property and Collections therein, and shall have authority to give orders in case of fire or other accidents. The two Keepers who are required to be always in residence (Chap. I., § 8) shall both remain within the precincts during the night. The Director shall see that these rules be strictly enforced.

4. At the Museum (Natural History) one at least of the resident servants shall always remain within the precincts.

5. Every Subordinate Officer shall pay particular attention to the security of his Department ; and shall take care that, at the hours of closing, the fires be extinguished or left so as not to be dangerous.

6. Whenever it is necessary to bring portable lights into the Museums they shall be carried in lanterns to be specially provided for that purpose.

7. The Director and the Director of the Natural History Departments shall take care that the fire-extinguishing apparatus at the two Museums be continually kept in good order ; and that the reservoirs be always in a state fit for service.

CHAP. V.
Precautions
against Fire
and other
Accidents.

8. PRINTED REGULATIONS FOR THE GENERAL SECURITY OF THE BRITISH MUSEUM shall from time to time be placed in the hands of the Resident Officers, the Messengers, the Clerk of the Works, and such other persons as the Director or the Director of the Natural History Departments shall think fit.
